1. Executive Summary

This decision report seeks agreement from the PFCC to allocate funds to help support Essex Police in hosting the National Black Policing Association Annual Conference 2024.

2. Recommendations

Approve the allocation of up to £4.5k to support the conference.

3. Background to the Proposal

The National Black Policing Association (NBPA) is a key agent of change in supporting the UK Police Service. It has a high profile within the Home Office and Government Strategic Committees, as well as members of a range of decision-making steering groups, and hold regular meetings with all policing stakeholders. The group of diverse and under-represented members of police staff and officers represents 48 associations including all 43 UK police forces in England and Wales, Police Scotland, Police Service of Northern Ireland,

National Crime Agency, British Transport Police and Ministry of Defence Police.

Essex Police & MESA are proud to be hosting this year's National Black Police Association Conference for the first time in Essex. The theme of this year's event is 'Police reform: The need for a service we can all be proud of.'

4. Proposal and Associated Benefits

The event provides an excellent opportunity for key organisations and members to come together and focus on issues of race, with a view to developing a collective way forward.

The three-day event will be attended by local dignitaries, conference delegates from across the UK and senior dignitaries from the NBPA, Home Office, National Police Chief's Council (NPCC) as well as Essex Police and PFCC.

The conference provides a host of strategic benefits for those organisations committed to inclusiveness and dealing effectively with issues of: Race, Gender, Diversity, Policing, Justice, Equalities, Community Cohesion and Community Engagement.

The NBPA conference also provides an ideal opportunity for partners to increase awareness of their organisation to decision-makers and opinion formers, including senior representatives from 48 associations including all 43 UK police forces in England and Wales, Police Scotland, Police Service of Northern Ireland, National Crime Agency, British Transport Police and Ministry of Defence Police the Home Office, senior government officials, local dignitaries and partners.

5. Options Analysis

The Commissioner could decide not to support the conference, however other PCCs have traditionally supported the conference when it has been held in their area and it is a good opportunity to undertake activity that helps improve the work Essex Police is doing on its Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Strategy. Supporting the conference would also support the PFCCs commitment to increase the number of officers from diverse communities.

The event will enable us to raise our profile as our logo will be included on the merchandise. Additionally the PFCC will be a main speaker and also present at the gala dinner, which will give opportunity to network with senior level representatives across policing, justice, equality and government.

6. Consultation and Engagement

Engagement with the Chief Constable and through the force, wider community representation has been undertaken with strong support expressed for the Commissioner to make this decision.

7. Strategic Links

7.1. The strategic priorities in the plans are as follows:

Supporting our officers and staff. By supporting this event the PFCC will be demonstrating commitment to Diversity and Inclusion locally and nationally.

8. Police operational implications

None.

9. Financial implications

The funding would be taken from the Community Safety Development Fund which will leave £301,643 after the allocation of £4.5k.
